Parent's Day

The last Parent's Day and Pupils Reception for the present school not been absent a single day the year, was observed by the Earlington Graded School last Friday May 17. The attendance was greater than that of any previous meeting enrolling more than 125 visitors. The parents were a unit in their praise for the character of the work done in the various grades, stating that the progress of the year was very marked.

The exhibition work in the various grades consisted of regular school work, drawing, music and etc. Manual Training in the various grades was very much in evidence, offering many unique designs, such as, tables and book cases in wood, various designs in paper and cardboard mounting, hand made garments, embroidery, darning, weaving and etc. And last but not least, Domestic Science.

The rooms were beautifully decorated and a most delightiful, social

Alumni Banquet at Williard Hotel

The Alumni association, of this city, gave a most elaborate banquet Monday evening, at the Williad Hotel in honor of the seventeen graduates, of nineteen and twelve, just after the Commencement Exercises, which were held at the taber

The Banquet hall was transformed nto a floral arrangment of lovliness being profusely decorated in quantities, of cut flowers, potted plants and ferrs. The class colors, red and white, being carried out in all the decorations. The tables were decorated in roses, red and white carnations and ferns, and at each place were arranged the place-cards tied with red ribbon, to a carnation of red and white alternatively.

The exquisite souvenir menu folders had on the cover page gold French baskets filled with red roses and were tied with red and white silk cord. In this souvenir book was the menu for the banquet and the names of the graduates of 1912.

During the entire affair most entrancing music was furnished by Mrs. D. H. Kinchloe and Miss Bernice Wimberly.

Mr. G. D. Collins toastmaster for the occasion introduced several very interesting speakers the following toasts being responded to: Miss Eileen Gold "The President's

OUR NEW PROCESS

Non-Explosive Oil Stoves and Ranges

In hot weather there is nothing more exhausting and unpleasant than to bend over the sweltering heat of a cook stove in preparing the daily meals. This unpleasant duty can be avoided by using our New Process Oil Stoves, smokeless and odorless. It is not only a great labor saver but saves time, money and worry. Ask the people who are now using our New Process Oil Stoves if it is not a pleasure to cook on them. No coal to bring in, no kindling to split, no smoking flues, no stifling heat. You simply turn up the wick and strike the match and the work is done. We have the New Process for $8.50 to $11.50.

Please Read These Two Letters.

Rockport, Ind.—"There never was a worse case of women's ills than mine, and I cannot begin to tell you what I suffered. For over two years I was not able to do anything. I was in bed for a month and the doctor said nothing but an operation would cure me. My father suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so to please him I took it, and I improved wonderfully, so I am able to travel, ride horseback, take long rides and never feel any ill effects from it. I can only ask other suffering women to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation."

CONSTIPATION

Indigestion, Bad Breath, Dizziness, Vertigo (blind staggers), Headache, Sallow Complexion, a Tired, Discouraged Feeling are all symptoms of a Torpid Liver.

HERBINE Is an Effective Liver Tonic and Bowel Regulator.

Its powerful reviving influence in the torpid liver brings on an immediate improvement. You feel better at once. The bowels move freely so that the impurities which have clogged up the digestive organs find an outlet. When the system has been thus purified, the billous, half sick feeling disappears, the complexion clears, the breath becomes sweet, the mind alert and cheerful and there is a fine feeling of exhilaration all through the body.

MISS MINERVA AND WILLIAM GREEN HILL

(Continued from Page 2.) often that he had some expression or incident by which he could identify each, without paying much attention while she was reading.

He and his aunt had just settled themselves on the porch for a reading. Jimmy was on his own porch cutting up funny capers, and making faces for the other child's amusement.

"Lemme go over to Jimmy's, Aunt Minerva," pleaded her nephew, "an' you can read to me tonight. I'd a heap ruther not hear you read right now. It 'll make my belly ache." Miss Minerva looked at him severe-

"William," she enjoined, "don't you want to be a smart man when you grow up?"

"Yes, 'm," he replied, without much enthusiasm. "Well, jes' lemme ask Jimmy to come over here an' set on the other sider you whils' you read. He min't never hear 'bout them tales, an' I s'pec' he 'd like to come."

"Very well," replied his flattered and gratified relative, "call him over." Billy went to the fence, where he signaled Jimmy to meet him. "Aunt Minerva say you come over an' listen to her read some er the pretties' tales you ever hear," he said, as If conferring a great favor.

"Naw, sirree-bob!" was the impolite response across the fence, "them 'bout the measliest tales they is. I'll come If she 'll read my Uncle Remus book." "Please come on," begged Billy, droping the patronizing manner that he had assumed, in hope of inducing his chum to share his martyrdom. "You know Aunt Minerva 'd die in her tracks 'fore she 'd read Uncle Remus. You 'll like these-here tales 'nother sight better anyway. I'll give you my stoney if you'll come."

"Naw; you ain't going to get me in no such box as that. If she 'd just read seven or eight hours I would n't mind; but she 'll get you where she wants you and read 'bout a million hours. I know Miss Minerva."

Billy's aunt was growing impatient. "Come, William," she called. "I am waiting for you."

Jimmy went back to his own porch and the other boy joined his kinswo-

"Why wouldn't Jimmy come?" she asked. "He-he ain't feeling very well," was the considerate rejoinder. "Once there was a little boy who was born in Virginia-" began Miss "Born in a manger," repeated the Inattentive little boy to himself, "1 gave himself up to the full enjoyment of his chum and to the giving and receiving secret signals, the pleasure of which was decidedly enhanced by the fear of imminent detection.

Father, I cannot tell a lie, I did it with my little hatchet-" read the thin, monotonous voice at his elbow. Billy laughed aloud—at that minute Jimmy was standing on his head waving two chubby feet in the air. "William," said his aunt reprovingly, peering at him over her spectacles, "I don't see anything to laugh at."-and she did not, but then she was in ignorance of the little conspiracy. "He was a good and dutiful son and he studied his lessons so well that when he was only seventeen years old he was employed to survey vast tracts of land in Virginia-"

Miss Minera emphasized every word, hoping thus to impress her nephew. But he was so busy keeping one eye on her and one on the little boy on the other porch, that he did not have time to use his ears at all and so did not hear one word.

"Leaving his camp fires burning to deceive the enemy, he stole around by a circuitous route, fell upon the Brit-Ish and captured-"

Billy held up his hands to catch a ball which Jimmy made believe to Billy made a pretense behind his aunt's upright back of throwing a ball while the other child held up two fat little hands to receive it. Again he laughed aloud as Jimmy spat on his hands and ground the imaginary ball into his hip.

She looked at him sternly over her

"What makes you so silly?" she inquired, and without waiting for a reply went on with her reading; she was nearing the close now and she read carefully and deliberately.

"And he was chosen the first president of the United States-" Billy put his hands to his ears and wriggled his fingers at Jimmy, who promptly returned the compliment. "He had no children of his own, so he is called the Father of his Coun-

Miss Minerva closed the book, turned to the little boy at her side, and asked:

"Who was this great and good man, William?" "Jesus," was his ready answer, in an appropriately solemn little voice. "Why, William Green Hilf" she ex-

one word that I read. Billy was puzzled; he was sure she had said "Born in a manger." "I didn't hear her say nothin' 'bout bulrushes," he thought, "so 't ain't Moses; she didn't say 'log cabin,' so 't ain't Ab'aham Lincoln; she didn't say "Thirty cents look down upon you,' so 't ain't Napolyon. A Flaw in the Title.

"Come on over!" invited Jimmy. "All right; I believe I will," responded Billy, running to the fence. His aunt's peremptory voice arrested his footsteps. "William, come here!" she called from the porch.

He reluctantly retraced his steps. "I am going back to the kitchen to bake a cake and I want you to promise me not to leave the yard."

"Lemme jes' go over to Jimmy's little while," he begged. "No; you and Jimmy can not be

Billy suffermy gave her the promise and she went back to her baking.

"That 's always the way now," he said, meeting his little neighbor at the fence, "ever since Aunt Minerva got onto this-here promisin' business, I don' have no freedom 't all. It 's 'William, promise me this,' an' it 's 'William, don't ferget yo' promise now,' tell I 's jes' plumb sick 'n tired of it. She know I ain't goin' back on my word an' she jes' nachelly gits the wantage of me: she 'bout the hardest 'oman to manage I ever seen sence I 's born."

"I can nearly all time make my mama do anything 'most if I jus' keep on trying and keep on a-begging," bragged the other boy; "I just say 'May I, mama?' and she 'll all time say, 'No, go 'way from me and lemme lone,' and I just keep on, 'May I mama? May I, mama? May I, mama?' and toreckly she 'll say, 'Yes, go on and lemme read in peace."

"Aunt Minerva won't give in much," said Billy. "When she say 'No, William,' 't ain't no use 't all to beg her; you jest wastin' yo' breath. When she put her foot down it got to go just like she say; she sho' do like to have her own way better 'n any 'oman I ever

"She 'bout the mannishest woman they is," agreed Jimmy. "She got you under her thumb, Billy. I don' see what womans 're made fo' if you can't beg 'em into things. I would n't let no old spunky Miss Minerva get the best of me that 'way. Come on, anyhow.

"Naw, I can't come," was the gloomy reply; "if she 'd jest tol' me not to, I couldn'er went, but she made me promise, an' I ain't never goin' back on my word. You come over to

"I can't," came the answer across the fence; "I 'm earning me a baseball mask. I done already earnt me a mitt. My mama don't never make me promise her nothing, she just pays me to be good. That 's huccome I 'm 'bout to get 'ligion and go to the mourner's bench. She 's gone up town now and if I don't go outside the yard while she 's gone, she 's going to gimme a baseball mask. You got a ball what you bringed from the plantation, and I 'll have a bat and mitt and mask and we can play ball some. Come on over just a little while; you ain't earning you nothing like what I'm do-

"Naw; I promis' her not to an' l ain't ever goin' to break my promise." "Well, then, Mr. Promiser," said Jimmy, "go get your ball and we'll th'ow 'cross the fence. I can't find Billy kept his few toys and playclaimed in disgust. "What are you old plunder. As he reached for his Lord's day at 10:45 a. m. and 7:45 [... knows who that was." So, this impor- thinking of? I don't believe you heard ball something fell at his feet from a shelf above. He picked it up, and ran excitedly into the yard.

"Look, Jimmy," he yelled, "here 's a baseball mask I found in the closet." Jimmy, sossettul of the fact that he was to be paid for staying at home. immediately rolled over the fence and ran eagerly toward his friend. They examined the article in question with "It looks perzactly like a mask," announced Jimmy after a thorough inspection, "and yet it don't." He tried it on. "It don't seem to fit your face right," he said.

Sarah Jane was bearing down upon them. "Come back home dis minute, Jimmy!" she shricked, "want to ketch some mo' contagwous 'seases, don't yuh? What dat y' all got now?" As she drew nearer a smile of recognition and appreciation overspread her big good-natured face. Then she burst into a loud, derisive laugh. "What y' all gwine to do wid Miss Minerva's old bustle?" she inquired. "Y' all sho' am de contaritest chillens in dis here copperation."

"Bustle?" echoed Billy. "What 's a bustle?"

"Dat-ar 's a bustle-dat 's what 's a bustle. Ladies useto wear 'em 'cause dey so stylish to make they dresses stick out in the back. Come on home, trusted together; you are sure to get | Jimmy, 'fore yuh ketch de yaller jandis into mischief, and his mother and I er de epizootics; yo' ma tol' yuh to stay right at home."

"Well, I'm coming, ain't I?" scowled the little boy. "Mama need n't to know nothing 'thout you tell." "Would you take yo' mama's pres-

"Naw, I would n't, 'thout I tol' her." "Well, I 'll tell her I just comed over a minute to see 'bout Miss Minerva's bustle," he agreed as he again tumbled over the fence.

15 Days' Free Trial

for you to convince yourself here is the most convenient typewriter stand and cabinet—the one that costs less—looks best and saves office space. We'll put it in your office or home on ibdays' free trial—that's half a month—to prove that you can increase the efficiency of your stenographers. Occupies but 4 sq. feet instead of 10 sq. feet—the usual size of ordinary typewriter desks. Holds stationery for a week all within easy reach.

UHLART STEEL Typewriter Stand is light in weight yet rigid under operation—half turn of lever lowers the castors and permits moving it to any location. Write or phone today and we will deliver it promptly—if not satisfactory after 15 days' free trial return to us and it will not cost you a cent.

Further information and free descriptive literature if you will ask us.

Very Emotional. "Ever see one of these barefoot dancers? Their steps are symbolic; every step means something." "I saw one of 'em land on a tack one night. Her steps were full of meaning for the next few minutes."

Mrs. R. Brant. 11115 Paden St., Parkersburg, W. Va., had an attack of lagrippe which left her bad kidney trouble, and she suffered much severe pain and backache. Then she heard of Foley Kidney Pills and says; "After taking them a short time the pain left my back and I am again able to do my own housework. Foley Kidney Pills helped me wonderfully."
